The Easter Bunny

Once upon a time on Easter night I woke up because there was something rattling in my room. It was the Easter Bunny on a mini motor bike with red flames up the side. He said "Hop in we're going for a ride." So I got in and then we rode out the door and then all of a sudden we were flying. Bluey, greeny flames were coming out of the back. Next we went to my friend's house. She was fast asleep. Then he said "Do you know why you've come here?" I said "No." Then he said "Well I needed a helper, after all I am one hundred and two." "Oh!" I said. So we started hiding the Easter eggs, then we got going. We went to everyone's house in the world. After, it was time to go home and get some rest but just before he went he said, "Would you like a motor bike like mine?" I said, "Of course I would!" So he used his power to make another one exactly the same. Then I went to sleep. When I woke up, there was fifty Easter eggs each and twenty big bunnies. I started riding on my new motor bike. Stella, Miles and Lanti said, "Where did you get that?" I said, "It's a secret!"
